Parte B. RESUMEN LIBRE DEL CURRÍCULUM

Dr Moreno Casbas had formal education in Nursing in the University of Valladolid in 1981. She obtained a Maîtrise en Sciences by the University of Montreal Canada (1991-93) and she is obtained her Ph Doctoral degree in Epidemiology and Public Health in 2007 at the University Rey Juan Carlos. Her postdoctoral work at the University of Toronto (2009-10) focused on health care policy, promoting safe care for nurses and patients nationally and internationally. She also has other academic records:

- 2007 – Master in Epidemiology and Public Health
- 1986 - Master's in Family Therapy at the Univ. Pontificia of Salamanca.
- 1986 - Nursing Services Management at the School of Management and Administration EADA in Barcelona.
- 1985 - Intensive Care Nursing at the Autonomous University of Barcelona.

From 1996, she is the Nursing Director of the Spanish Nursing and Healthcare Research Unit (Investén-isciii). This unit is located in the Institute of Health Carlos III, which belongs to the Spanish the Ministry of Economy, Industry and Competitiveness (MINEICO). From 1996 this unit has strategically sought to improve research in Nursing and Healthcare in Spain and now the effort is focused on the implementation of nursing research findings on the daily practice of Spanish health professionals working in our national Health System. Since 2009 held the position as a Chair in Health Services and Policy Research.

After 35 years of working she has achieved a significant increase in nursing primary research in Spain, through several strategies including international alliances in Europe, Canada, EEUU, Australia and Latin America. She leads a multidisciplinary group of professionals, who are working for the same aims.

As a result of this effort a Spanish Collaborating Centre of Joanna Briggs Institute for Evidence Based Health Care was established in 2006, of which, since 2006, she is the Director. This centre is located in the Investén-isciii Unit and has the financial support of 16 Spanish regions. The Great research milestone for her scientific carrier is to contribute to demonstrate that Nurses hold the key to providing safer, more effective care—and achieving better outcomes for hospitalized patients. Her international research has showing at the European level the importance of nurses caring for fewer patients each, having most nurses with bachelor's or higher qualifications, and improving nurse work environments. The RN4CAST project documented that 30-day mortality after common surgical procedures increased by 7 percent for each additional patient added to a nurse's workload, and that for each 10 percent increase in nurses with BSN degrees, there was a 5 to 7 percent decline in risk-adjusted mortality. She has also demonstrated that organizations that support professional nursing practice by involving nurses in decision-making have better patient outcomes than matched organizations with poor work environments.

It could be also mention that

1. She is Adjunct Scientist of a Thematic Network Frailty and Healthy Aging CIBERFES.
2. She was Editor-in-chief of the journal Enfermería Clínica from 2004 to 2011 (published by Elsevier publishing and included in Medline since 2007).
3. She is Editorial Board of Journal of Research in Nursing, Qualitative Health Research and International Journal of Nursing Practice
