

Curriculum vitae: Tomáš Sollár, PhD.

Born: February 1978 in Nitra, Slovakia

Current Position: Associate Professor for General and Experimental Psychology at Institute of Applied Psychology, Faculty of Social Sciences and Health Care, Constantine the Philosopher University in Nitra, Slovakia.

Education and work experience

- 2014: Associate Professor for General and Experimental Psychology
- 2005: PhD, Institute of Experimental Psychology, Slovak academy of Sciences
- 2001- : currently Head of the Institute of Applied Psychology, Faculty of Social Sciences and Health Care, constantine the Philosopher University in Nitra, Slovakia
- 2001-2005: Department of Clinical Psychology, Faculty Hospital Nitra, Slovakia
- 2001: Master of Science in Psychology, Department of Psychology, Faculty of Arts, Comenius University, Bratislava, Slovakia (2001)
- Research assistant and coordinator in several research projects focusing on psychodiagnostics and nursing diagnostics

Tomáš Sollár is a psychologist with PhD in general and experimental psychology and currently associate profesor at Institute of Applied Psychology, Faculty of Social Sciences and Health Care, Constaantine the Philosopher University in Nitra, Slovakia. He has been involved in a number of research projects in the fields of psychometrics, cognitive psychology, intelligence and nursing. He has been involved in the development and validation of questionnaires, rating scales and tests in the field of counseling, cognitive psychology and nursing. He has led multidisciplinary research team in the field of diagnosics of psychosocial topics of anxiety and coping in patients. Currently he is involved in topics of psychometrics and its use in measurement tools development including psychology and nursing.